

The Cost/Benefit of a Psychologically Healthy Workplace April 11, 2019

The NE Ohio Chapter of ISCEBS, in collaboration with the Total Rewards Committee of Cleveland SHRM, is pleased to present The Cost/Benefit of a Psychologically Healthy Workplace on Thursday, April 11, 2019.

What is meant by a psychologically healthy workplace and how do you measure where you fit on a continuum from weak to strong?

The benefit of an in-depth culture of psychological health has strong data-driven support. Potential gaps and omissions in the workplace can threaten your recruitment and retention, workplace safety, employee satisfaction, productivity, and health spend.

Attend this conference and learn from experts in the field how to assess and fortify the psychological health of your workplace. You will gain meaningful insight, strategies and resources to enhance your understanding and empower you with the tools to know, recognize and affect change in your workplace.

- Introduction to psychological health with a focus on EAP, daily living support, and how to form strategic partnerships to enhance your cultural reach across your workforce and beyond.
 - Dr. Joel R. Gecht, President and CEO, IMPACT Solutions (EAP and Work/Life Firm)
- Creating a psychologically healthy workplace from a number of different perspectives and initiatives.
 - Kim Hauge, Director of Employee Wellness, Kent State University
 - Marc Blaushild, President and CEO, Famous Supply
 - Rebecca Rhubottom, Associate Vice President, Executive Recruiting, Nationwide Insurance
 - Sharon Johnson, Director, Executive and Talent Pipeline, Nationwide Insurance
 - Christine Young, MSSA, LSW - Supervising Associate, Total Rewards, Ernst & Young
- Strategic Roundtable Discussion Focus (Includes Audience Q&A)
 - Value Proposition and ROI potential;
 - Risks associated with gaps and omissions; and
 - Steps involved in gaining organizational buy-in (up and down)
 - Roundtable Participants:
 - Dr. Gecht, Ms. Hauge, Mr. Blaushild, Ms. Rhubottom, Ms. Johnson, Ms. Young and Trish Krewson, CHRO and General Counsel (Signature Health)

For more information on the speakers, please click here.

Date:

April 11, 2019 (Thursday)

Time:

8:00 - 8:30 am - Registration and Networking
(Continental Breakfast Provided)

8:30 am - 12:00 pm - Program, Q&A

Location:

Great Lakes Science Center, 601 Erieside Avenue, Cleveland, OH
Free parking for those who park in the Great Lakes Science Center garage.

\(Directions\)

Cost:

$50 - Cleveland SHRM Members

$75 - Nonmembers/Guests

$20 - Students and Members in Transition

(For student/transition code, please contact Pam Smith at (216) 533-3661)

Registration:

Please click here to register.

Questions:

Pam Smith, admin@clevelandshrm.com, (440) 940-6534

This program has been submitted for approval for HRCI® and SHRM recertification credits.

Education sessions at this program qualify for three (3) CEBS Compliance credits.
Visit www.cebs.org/compliance for more information.